

W1. Basic elements and patterns of communication

1. Fill in the model

2. Connect the correct elements with correct description

SENDER		The method used to send the message, such as social media, phone calls, or the Internet
MESSAGE		A device or system that converts information into digital signals or binary data
ENCODER		The person who creates or sends the message
RECEIVER		Information that is sent, such as text, images, video, or sound
CHANNEL		The response or reaction after receiving the message
DECODER		The person who receives and understands the message
FEEDBACK		A device or system that converts digital signals into understandable information

3. Peter posts a funny TikTok video about studying for exams. Identify:

- Sender →
- Message →
- Channel →
- Receiver →

4. Give ONE real-life example of feedback in digital communication.